Visions of Djenabé

THE VISION: Utilizing curation to contextualize the immaterial phenomena of collective consciousness; constructing nü narratives and cultural archives + artifacts that transcend temporality.

Djenabé is a Toronto-born Haitian-Canadian multidisciplinary artist, writer and curator devoted to creating space for imagination, preserving oral histories, and igniting dialogues that delve into contemporary perspectives of the Afro-Caribbean diaspora. Since earning her BFA in Photography from Parsons; The New School, Djenabé has transitioned into a thriving career as a Fine Art photographer and independent curator. Her curatorial practice is deeply rooted in the female gaze, identity, and Afro-Caribbean heritage. Fascinated with the timelessness of archived memories and mixed media, her approach to visual design poetically simplifies the complex nature of becoming.

Djenabé is also the founder of Aquarius Mood, a Toronto-based artist collective and curation house. The collective serves as a community hub at the intersection of fashion, art, astrology & wellness; generating a distinctive portfolio of performance art installations, art exhibitions, print publications, educational excursions and sound bath circles.
